

The Climate Emergency: Our Pledge

Pier Projects acknowledge the climate emergency the world is facing. We believe that the health of our planet needs protecting and is utterly connected to the health of individuals, communities and cultures. This is central to the content of programmes we deliver and embedded in how we work.

To acknowledge this, our commitment includes;

-Making visible the impact of climate change on our environment and communities through our programme

-Communicating, acting and advocating for best practice approaches and maintaining a low carbon footprint by;

Using the most 'green' travel options available

Reducing our energy, water consumption and waste by continuing to work with a borrowed infrastructure model

Procuring goods and services that are the most energy efficient

Using local, environmentally sustainable and low impact products and ethical suppliers such as printers

Advocating for awareness of the impact of activity on the environment through our relationships with artists, audiences, stakeholders and young people

This work is ongoing and open to suggestions of how we can do better.
